

Emma Hunter

Award-Winning Comedian, Actor & Host

COMEDY · HUMOUR IN THE WORKPLACE · RESILIENCE · ADAPTABILITY · EMBRACING FAILURE · CONFIDENCE

THE PITCH

Finding the Funny in Life, Work & Everything in Between

FULL BIO

Life rarely goes according to plan. And sometimes, the best thing you can do is laugh.

Emma Hunter has made a career out of finding the funny in life's most uncomfortable, unpredictable and wonderfully ridiculous moments.

A multiple Canadian Screen Award-winning actor, comedian and host, Emma is one of Canada's most recognizable comedic talents, with a gift for making audiences laugh while reminding them that none of us has it all figured out.

From The Beaverton and Mr. D to Workin' Moms, Letterkenny, Moonshine and This Hour Has 22 Minutes, Emma has built an impressive career bringing memorable characters and stories to life. She's also appeared in Children Ruin Everything, Canada's Drag Race, Saint-Pierre and numerous other television and film productions.

Her talents extend well beyond acting. Emma has hosted the Canadian Screen Awards, CBC's Fridge Wars, the Winnipeg Comedy Festival and numerous other live events, demonstrating the quick wit, improvisational instincts and natural ability to connect with an audience that have become her trademarks.

But behind the laughs is something that makes Emma particularly interesting as a keynote speaker.

Comedy demands a willingness to be uncomfortable. To take risks. To put yourself out there without knowing exactly how things will turn out. To recover when something doesn't land, adapt when the unexpected happens and keep going anyway.

And those lessons extend far beyond the stage.

Bringing her signature humour, candid storytelling and refreshingly unfiltered perspective to the keynote stage, Emma explores the pressures we put on ourselves, the unpredictability of life and work, and why learning to laugh at ourselves might be one of the most valuable skills we can develop.

She's funny, relatable and wonderfully human.

And in a world where everyone seems to be taking everything so seriously, Emma Hunter offers audiences something they could probably use a little more of.

A chance to laugh, loosen up and remember that sometimes, the best way forward is to stop worrying about getting everything right.

CONNECT

Website · spokenartists.com/speakers/emma-hunter

Instagram · instagram.com/emmajanehunterhere

SIGNATURE KEYNOTES

Well, That Didn't Go as Planned.

Finding the Funny, Embracing the Unexpected & Learning to Roll With It

Let's face it. Most of us are just making it up as we go.

We make plans. We set goals. We convince ourselves we've got things under control.

And then life happens.

A career takes an unexpected turn. Something goes spectacularly wrong. We say the wrong thing, make a questionable decision, or find ourselves wondering how on earth we ended up here.

For most people, these are moments of stress, embarrassment or frustration.

For Emma Hunter, they're often the beginning of a pretty great story.

As a multiple Canadian Screen Award-winning actor and comedian, Emma has spent her career navigating the unpredictable world of entertainment, where rejection is common, expectations are high, and sometimes you have to figure things out while everyone is watching.

In this hilarious, refreshingly candid keynote, Emma takes audiences behind the scenes of her career and explores what happens when we stop expecting everything to go according to plan.

Through personal stories, sharp observations and plenty of laughs, she explores our relationship with failure, the pressure to have everything figured out, and the freedom that comes from not taking ourselves quite so seriously.

Because while we can't always control what happens to us, we can learn to approach the unexpected with a little more perspective, confidence and humour.

Audiences will walk away with:

- A healthier perspective on setbacks. Why the moments that don't go according to plan don't have to define us.
- The confidence to be imperfect. How to stop letting the fear of looking foolish hold us back.
- A fresh approach to uncertainty. Why adaptability, curiosity and a willingness to improvise matter in work and life.
- Permission to lighten up. How humour can help us find perspective when things feel overwhelming.
- A reminder that we're all human. Why being relatable, authentic and willing to laugh at ourselves can bring people closer together.

Part comedy, part storytelling and part much-needed reality check, Well, That Didn't Go as Planned is a keynote designed to leave audiences laughing, energized and feeling a little better about the beautiful messiness of being human.

Because sometimes the best stories come from the things we never saw coming.

IMAGE LIBRARY

Original high-resolution color files are included alongside this PDF in the ZIP download.

PORTRAIT

BOOK THIS SPEAKER

To check availability, request a hold, or confirm a date for Emma Hunter, email either of the following:

- pjasic@spokenartists.com
- vtudorache@spokenartists.com

Full digital profile, video reel, and additional press-kit assets: spokenartists.com/speakers/emma-hunter